

A vision for Latin America

One spiritual family, moving together to establish lasting expressions of the Kingdom of God.

“Go and make disciples of all nations.”

MATTHEW 28:18–20

One destination. One shared way.

The vision names what God desires to establish; the mission describes how the regional family carries it forward.

THE VISION / WHAT

Kingdom & family

Established among every ethnos—every nation, people, and people group.

THE MISSION / HOW

A family at work

Discipling, serving, raising leaders, sharing resources, and building works that last.

Not a program to run. A people to become—and a mission to carry together.

Rooted in Matthew 28:18–20

The mandate belongs to the family.

Local assignments remain distinct—but they serve a larger shared vision, not competing ones.

“Is the family advancing—and is this still our family vision?”

Move from “Who else will do it?” to “What can we carry together?”

Many gifts. One mission.

Prayer and spiritual life anchor the work; relationships and practical service give it local roots.

THE FOUNDATION

Prayer
& shared life

- 01 RELATIONSHIPS
Fellowship · presence · trust
- 02 DISCIPLESHIP
Evangelism · leaders · maturity
- 03 PRACTICAL SERVICE
Medicine · business · education
- 04 CROSS-POLLINATION
People · ideas · skills · resources
- 05 LOCAL EXPRESSION
Each place’s gifts · needs · culture

Go beyond the visit. Establish.

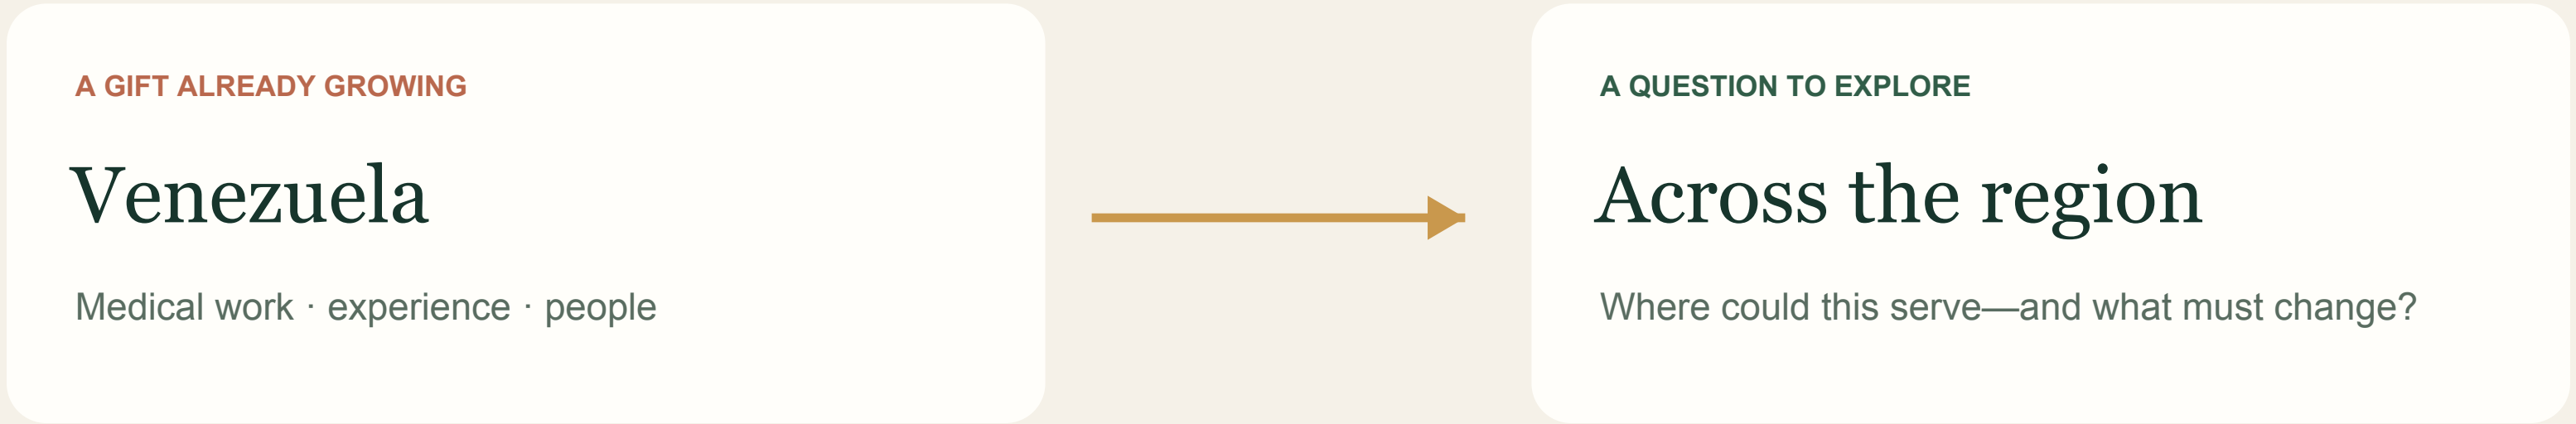

Evangelism opens the door. The aim is a durable spiritual family and local work that can keep growing.

Stay long enough to build something that remains.

Let good work travel.

Cross-pollination is not copy-and-paste. Adapt good ideas to local relationships, needs, language, and realities.

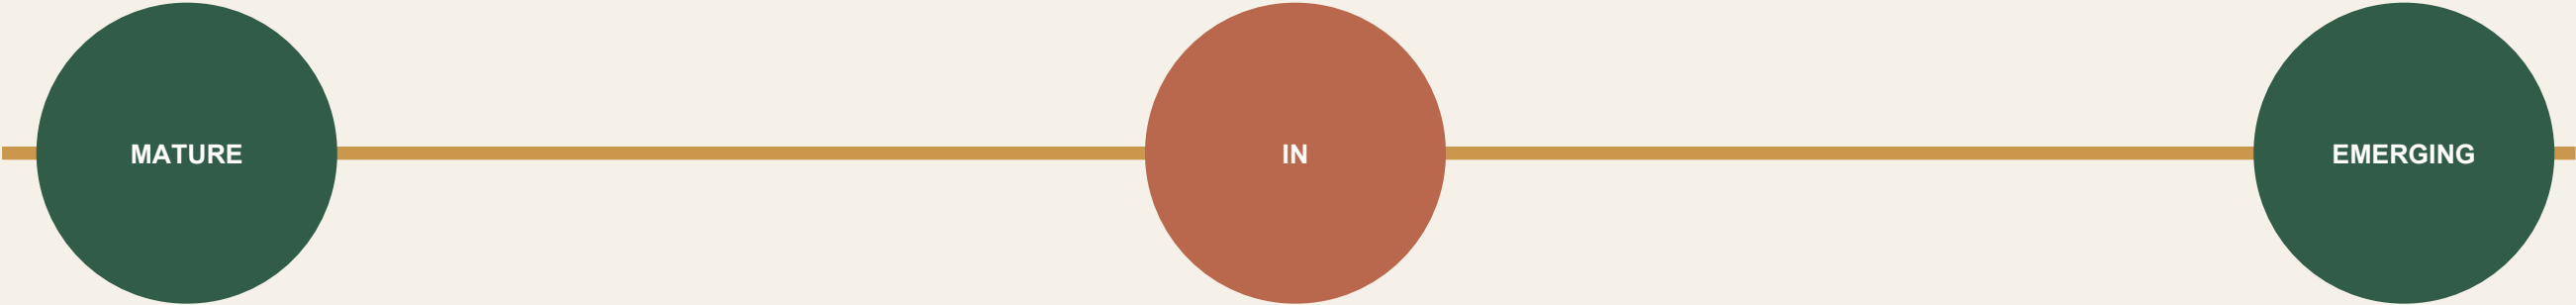

Other resources travel too:

- EDUCATION
- BUSINESS
- PROFESSIONAL SKILLS
- STRATEGIES
- PRAYER

Local wisdom leads. Regional relationships make the exchange possible.

Prepare the next leader while you can still walk together.

Emerging leaders need wisdom, affirmation, coaching, and a real place to function—not a last-minute handoff.

MATURE LEADERS

Coach

Share wisdom; make room.

IN THE WORK TOGETHER

Entrust

Practice, learn, and lead.

EMERGING LEADERS

Carry forward

Grow into visible responsibility.

Moses & Joshua · David & Solomon

Continuity is formed through shared life—not just succession plans.

Align. Connect. Pray. Then move together.
